Holt One-Stop Planner Wins Media & Methods Magazine 2003 Awards Portfolio

Austin, Texas – April 26, 2003—Holt, Rinehart and Winston today announced that Media & Methods magazine has selected the Holt One-Stop Planner with Test Generator®—a CD-ROM teacher resource containing teacher guides, masters, and visual resources—as a winner in the 2003 Awards Portfolio for K-12 education resources.

The 2003 Awards Portfolio sponsored by Media & Methods magazine acknowledges technology products or services that contribute to excellence in K-12 schools. The Holt One-Stop Planner was evaluated by a team of educators who considered the teaching resource’s purpose, content, documentation, and effectiveness and selected the product for recognition in the foreign language products category. The Holt One-Stop Planner will be featured in the magazine’s May/June 2003 issue.

“We are excited that the Holt One-Stop Planner was selected to as a winning product by Media & Methods Magazine because this product is a valuable resource for teachers,” said Judy Fowler, president of Holt. “So many of the teachers who use the One-Stop Planners tell us they have saved countless hours in lesson planning and test preparation with these easy-to-use and robust resources.”

The Holt One-Stop Planner with Test Generator for World Languages provides everything teachers need to plan and manage lessons to complement the corresponding Holt World Languages textbook. Every One Stop Planner includes audio and video segments, print resources, editable lesson plans, links to Internet activities, a test generator, and a Clip Art Library. In addition to the Holt One-Stop Planners for World Language instruction in Spanish, French, and German, Holt offers One-Stop Planners in mathematics, language arts, science, and social studies.

Holt has over 130 years of educational publishing history and the expertise of educational leaders, researchers, and classroom teachers to keep Holt products in the forefront of educational resource development. Holt continues to add new products to its portfolio including electronic (or “online”) textbooks—called the Holt Online Learning series—in all five core curriculum areas: mathematics, language arts, science, world languages, and social studies. Additional technology and print-based teaching resources from Holt include interactive tutors; video, audio, and DVD resources; the go.hrw.com web site; Holt Online Assessment and Online Essay Scoring; textbooks; and supplementary materials.
